

OFAD-157 – Business Math and Calculators

Technology

Effective Term & Year: Fall 2022

Course Outline Review Date: 2023-01-01

Program Area: Office Administration

Description:

OFAD 157 Business Math and Calculators covers the basic skill of using the 10-key touch keypad for numeric calculations. Students apply the use of memory functions to cross check totals and use the multiplication function to calculate percents, discounts, and taxable amounts. Frequent skill assessments promote accuracy and speed in the use of the desktop calculators. Students will learn basic business math skills including estimating, problem solving, and the metric system.
