

OATA – Administrative Assistant Specialty Certificate

Technology

Effective Term & Year: Fall 2023

Program Outline Review Date: 2028-03-01

Program Area: Office Administration

Description:

The Office Administration Program (OFAD) offers basic to advanced business, office, and computer applications skills training. The program offers the Office Administration Certificate and two specialty certificates: the Bookkeeping Specialty and the Administrative Assistant Specialty.

The program is targeted at students who are seeking an Office Administration certificate with the option to complete one or two specialty certificates. OFAD students usually have a strong desire to work in various business offices such as accounting firms, government offices, small and large businesses, manufacturing, legal offices, and numerous professional offices. Students who complete the Office Administration certificate and/or its specialties are able to transfer their courses and certificates to Office Administration and Applied Business Technology programs in British Columbia.

Program Information:

All OFAD courses are taught in an individualized format with set hours for course completion from September to early June. Students learn through instructor-guided individual study in online courses.

Start and Completion Dates:

Office Administration Certificate: varied – September to early June (22 weeks)

Administrative Assistant Specialty Certificate: varied – September to early June (15 weeks)

Bookkeeping Specialty Certificate: varied – September to early June (15 weeks)

Full-time students who start their studies in September should expect to complete their OFAD Certificate by mid-February and possibly a Specialty by early June. Students who start after the first week of September can expect to complete their classes in the following academic year.

Credentials Granted:

Office Administration – Administration Assistant Specialty Certificate

Minimum Course Grade: A minimum grade of C

Program Average: A minimum program grade point average of 3.0/10 (C average)

Program Goals and Career Pathways:

The College of the Rockies has developed its Office Administration Program based on common courses within a certificate followed by two optional specialty certificates. Each specialty has an emphasis on different skills sets required in today's business world:

1. The Office Administration Certificate focuses on the basic knowledge and skills to work in a supervised office.
1. The Bookkeeping Specialty Certificate focuses on numeracy skills. Successful completion of this certificate should lead to work as a bookkeeper, accounting clerk, night auditor, or other similar positions.
1. The Administrative Assistant Specialty Certificate focuses on writing, word processing, office administration procedures, desktop publishing, and communications. Successful completion of this certificate should lead to work as an administrative assistant, office clerk, executive assistant, or other similar positions.

Students entering the program are not required to choose their specialty until they are certain which stream of studies best suits their skills, abilities, and career goals.

Progression Requirements:

To be eligible to receive a Bookkeeping and/or Administrative Assistant Specialty certificate, a student must first complete the requirements for the Office Administration certificate. Some specialty courses may be completed without completing the OFAD certificate requirements provided all prerequisites are met. A student must complete all courses for a specialty certificate within five calendar years from entry into the program.
